

Dayna Devon:Co-Host of Extra-Feb 2007

Dayna Devon, Co-Host of Extra, Welcomes new Baby Boy!

Plainfield, IL(PRWeb) February 5, 2007--Plainfield, Illinois based marketing company to many Work-At-Home-Moms presents entertainment television show "Extra" Co-Host, Dayna Devon with her own baby swags gift basket. Clients who are also fans of Dayna wanted to share in the joy of welcoming new baby boy, Cole, along with dad and big sister Emmi. According to Baby Swags founder, Phyllis Pometta, creating gift baskets is not a hard task when working with such talented work-at-home moms because such pride is taken in their products.

"I started Baby Swags as a way to help other work-at-home moms promote their products." Says Pometta, "I love the enthusiasm that each mom radiates as they prepare to send their products." Pometta continues to add, "It gives me great joy to be able to put together some of the best baby gift baskets out there."

Products for this one-of-a-kind baby basket include hand painted initial wall hangings for Cole and hand painted shoes for big sister, Emmi from <http://www.wigglequirts.com> as well as a big sister tee shirt, little brother onesie and a pair of embroidered burp cloths from <http://www.babykakesink.com>. Dayna will also be receiving products such as an assorted style of uniquely crafted pacifier clips made by <http://www.babybintz.com>. In addition to Baby Swags, Pometta is the founder of <http://www.bandanaboutique.com> to where she supplied a paisley baby blanket from her upcoming line, "Posh Paisley" as well as a bandana bib and matching bandana silkie blanket made using University of Texas colors, blue and orange. Dayna had graduated from University of Texas and Pometta thought she would provide those team colors to baby Cole.

"Wigglesquirts is all about originality. We want to express the originality that each child brings to our lives. Custom decor, personalized wall art, hand painted shoes and boutique clothes are all created with the uniqueness of each child in mind." States Wigglesquirts owner, Mindy Benjamin. "We seek out distinctive gear that just plain makes life better with a new baby, including the best sign language videos for babies and special gear for the new Dad. It's original stuff for original kids- and their grown-ups too."

About Baby Swags:

Baby Swags helps to market work-at-home mom products and services to celebrities and consumers. As a work-at-home mom herself, Phyllis Pometta understands the struggles moms face while attempting to bring their products into the public eye. Baby Swags has a steady growing list of work-at-home mom clients since it's start in September, 2006. Baby Swags also has a growing list of celebrity recipients such as Jennie Garth, Britney Spears, Kellie Martin and Matt Lauer. New baskets are being worked on and will include celebrity mom Brooke Burke and celebrity dad, Patrick Dempsey.